FILL VACANCIES

As Senator Curtis is selected to succeed the late Senators Lodge of Massachusetts
will be named by the Senate on Nov. 27. After reviewing definite accomplishments
in the direction of "elimination of national waste," Secretary of Commerce Hoover in his annual report
made public today recommends an extensive program of legislation.

Elimination of national waste
has been brought about by the activities of his department, Mr.
Hoover says, in the fields of unemployment, seasonal construction,
coal, super power, standardization,
simplified practice, co-operative marketing and housing costs. Mr. Hoover refers to the conference on street and highway safety to be held in the department next month as an effort to cope with "the most challenging of all wastes—the waste of human life."

LEGISLATION ENDORSED

Legislation recommendations
by Mr. Hoover include
the following:

Concentration of activities now
scattered among different departments which properly belong to the Department of Commerce in its major gravitational to industry, trade and commerce.

Encouragement of America's advancing trade abroad by relieving them of domestic taxation
upon certain imports now resident in foreign countries and required
in the expansion of American commerce.

Reduction in passport fees and revision and simplification of for-mularies connected with passports
and visas.

Revision and codification of navigation laws.

Enactment of load-line legislation similar to laws of European countries now in order to insure safe treatment of American vessels
in foreign ports.

Establishment of foreign trade
zones in the ports of the United States to encourage the use of labor
and money in the importation of raw materials which are to be re-exported after manufacture
in conjunction with domestic manufacture.

Reclassification of the foreign service of the Bureau of Foreign and Domestic Commerce as provided in pending legislation.

Committee on Education and Labor. Senator Phipps, Colorado, may get this place.

Senator Johnson is now chairman of the Committee on Territories and Insular Possessions and Senator McCormick, Illinois, may be given that chairmanship for the short session.

POST FOR STERLING

Senator Sterling, who retires from the Senate on March 4, would like to have the judiciary chairmanship for the short session, leaving the way clear for Senator Cummins to take it in the next Congress. Senator Cummins will retain the position of president of the Senate on March 4. Senator Sterling, besides ranking next to Senator Cummins on the Judiciary Committee, is the ranking member of the Committees on Immigration and Naturalization and on Interstate Commerce, which he formerly headed. He has expressed a preference for the Judiciary Committee provided the situation with respect to railroad legislation is satisfactory to him.

Senator Moses, New Hampshire, is understood to be slated for President pro tem in the next Congress. He will succeed Senator Sterling as chairman of the Committee on Postoffices and Post Roads whenever that later gives up the place.

There will be a further shake-up in the committee chairmanships after March 4, when a number of Senators retire to private life.

Members of the Republican Steering Committee of the House also may meet tomorrow. The steering Committee, under the leadership of Majority Leader Longworth, plans to discuss the program for the short session.

Appropriation bills are to be given the right of way as rapidly as they come from the Appropriations Committee. A number of important measures are pending on the House calendar and will be sandwiched in for action between appropriation bills.

FURNISHED BOND

HANFORD, Nov. 27.—J. E. Wolfe, who inflicted five stabs on Marie Barnes when the young man came to his ranch residence to accompany his daughter, Marceline, riding, has been released on $4000 bond. Barnes is recovering from his wounds.

NEBRASKA HIT BY HICCoughs

(Continued from First Page) The liquor that it is possible to drink is of such character that it tears the digestive tract to pieces. This wear and tear is finally beginning to tell. The hiccoughing has reached a real epidemic stage. I have treated more cases of hiccoughs in the last week than in twenty-two years of practice."

There is no danger in the disease, physicians agreed. Some say, when hiccoughing comes at the end of an illness, it is natural, but otherwise death is not likely.

As a treatment, Dr. Case suggests a simple binder made from a towel and a couple of straps, wound tightly around the stomach. "This has proved efficient in many cases," Dr. Case said, "and physicians are reporting to me that they have found it the simplest and most satisfactory treatment. Of course, every physician has his own treatment, based on experience."

Pani Formally Resigns Post in Mexico Cabinet

(BY CARL—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH) MEXICO CITY, Nov. 27.—Finance Minister Alberto J. Pani handed in his resignation to President Obregon today. The resignation is considered a mere formality, as the members of the Cabinet are doing likewise in order to give President-elect Calles the hand when he assumes office.

In his letter Pani handed President Obregon in high terms for his act in making possible the peaceable transfer of the executive power into his successor. This the letter points out, is a rare occasion in Mexican history.

The Senate today also ratified the recent claims convention signed between France and Mexico. The convention is understood, is similar to that negotiated between the United States and Mexico and will eventually result in large payments to French citizens for damages to their property in the successive revolts.

Rum Skipper is Killed and Son Fatally Hurt

(BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE) SEATTLE, Nov. 27.—Capt. W. G. Gillis, master of the Canadian gasoline liquor boat Berry G., was shot to death by one of three men while asleep, and his son, William, 17 years of age, was fatally wounded, a Seattle newspaper said. The slugs hit next to his father aboard the vessel September 12 last, off Sidney Island, of the San Juan island group. It was revealed tonight by Canadian and American officials after requesting Paul Struminski, head in Victoria, B. C., and four suspects arrested in Seattle.

COLUMBUS (O.) Nov. 27.—Nothing tending to lift the veil of mystery which has hung over the parsonage of Christ Evangelical Lutheran Church in the fashionable Hexley district since the practically cremated body of Mrs. Addie Sheatsley was found in the furnace eleven days ago, developed today.

All the policemen, from the squad leaders down to the plain clothes men, who came in the downtown headquarters following the appointment of Capt. William Schoenke as Chief of Detectives, were ordered to "go and get em."

Deputy Superintendent Matthew Zimmer, acting Chief of Police in the absence of Capt. Paine, who was on vacation, bounded out the door. Many of the old-timers in police circles asserted they were the most stringent given out many days.

COOLIDGE MARK DAY IN NEW ENGLAND FASHION

(EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH)

WASHINGTON, Nov. 27.—Following the time-honored precedent established by their Puritan forefathers, President and Mrs. Coolidge led the nation today in observance of Thanksgiving in typical New England fashion.

Church in the morning, an old-fashioned turkey dinner, and the remainder of the day spent quietly at home constituted the Coolidge's Thanksgiving.

The question arose during discussion of the revision of the marriage service, which earlier had been altered to fit the time-honored word "obey" from

Mr. and Mrs. Frank W. Stearns of Boston, White House guests and close personal friends, accompanied the Presidential couple to church.

PARIS, Nov. 27.—The feature of the American colony's observance of Thanksgiving today was a union service conducted at the American Church in the Rue du Berri, at which Ambassador Herrick administered the American service. Scouts of all ages responded to the call of the Boy Scouts of the colony in Paris. Dean Frederick W. Bookman of the Episcopal pro-Cathedral delivered the sermon and Rev. W. G. Morris pronounced the benediction. Robert W. Skinner, the Consul-General, read President Coolidge's Thanksgiving proclamation. A large congregation was present.

TELEPHONE COMPANY RECALLS BOND ISSUE

(BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE)

NEW YORK, Nov. 27.—The Northwestern Bell Telephone Company announced today that it had called its $30,000,000 issue of first mortgage 7 per cent bonds for redemption on February 1, 1925, at a rate of 107 1/2. The loan which was floated in 1921 when the investment market conditions demanded a high interest rate, did not mature until 1941. Retirement of the bonds probably will be financed by the issue of additional capital stock.

Permanent roads are a good investment—not an expense

Now is the Ideal Time to Build More Paved Highways

There is not a single community in the United States that does not need a greater mileage of permanently paved roads.

16,000,000 motor vehicles are now using our highways for business and pleasure. They are packing the paved roads in already congested areas, as well as over-running regions until recently considered remote. And they are pounding to pieces all but permanent roads.

Even though a number of states have made good progress in building Concrete Roads, their present permanently improved mileage is entirely inadequate, as every motorist knows.

Meantime, while the building of permanent highways lags, the production of motor vehicles is increasing the present total at the rate of 4,000,000 a year!

Sooner or later this gap must be closed. Why wait?

Not in a long time have general conditions been so favorable for carrying on such public works as permanent highway building, thus assuring tax payers more for their money.

Now is the ideal time to extend both street and road programs!

RAILWAY CREDIT GIVEN GERMANS

First Step in Financing Under Dawes Plan

British, American Banks Participate

System to be Operated by Private Management

BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE
NEW YORK, Nov. 27.—First steps in financing Germany's railroads, as reconstituted under the Dawes plan, were taken today by the American and British bankers, who placed a credit of $15,000,000 at the disposal of the German State Railway Company.

One-third of the loan will be in pounds sterling and will be underwritten by a London banking group headed by J. Henry Schroder & Co.

New York banking syndicate, aided by Speyer & Co., includes the Equitable Trust Company, the Chase Securities Corporation, Blair & Co., the Bank of Manhattan Company and the J. Henry Schroder Banking Corporation.

Organized in accordance with the Dawes plan to take over the operation of German railroads are three private management companies, the German State Railway Company, which constitutes what is said to be the largest railway system in the world, having 33,000 miles of road. Two-thirds of the equipment, consisting of 10,000 locomotives, 50,000 passenger cars and 75,000 freight cars, is less than ten years old.

The original cost of the system extending to every part of Germany was $4,250,000.

Present capitalization consists of $3,095,000,000 common stock issued to the German government or the French states, and $2,620,000 first-mortgage reparation bonds, guaranteed by the German government, which have been issued to a trustee appointed by the reparations commission. The company also is authorized to issue $1,600,000 in preferred stock and $2,500,000 in convertible bonds, which will be pledged as security for the $15,000,000 credit.

First indications that the railroads will be made available to the Dawes report are appearing successfully given in a report to bankers, which says that net earnings of the system promise to exceed the estimates of the Dawes commission.

MAID MURDERS EMPLOYER

Girl Seized With Homicidal Mania Slays Man With Ax; Woman Attacked

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

PLAINFIELD (N. J.) Nov. 27.—Believing it was God's will a Polish domestic seized with a homicidal mania, murdered her employer with an ax as he slept in his home here. Mumbling the Lord's Prayer she then stole into the adjoining room of his wife, slashed her brutally, struck the couple's daughter, 12 years of age, and remained in the room until the police led her away in a straitjacket.

The victim of the savage mania was George H. Davey, an accountant.

The maid was Mary Kunislaw. She emigrated from Poland four years ago, spending all but two of those years in Plainfield.

Mrs. Davey, a sufferer from heart disease for some time, is in a critical condition. The slumbering凶暴的女仆, with five gashes in her chest, throat and abdomen. Little hope is held out for her recovery.

Winfred, the Davey's only child, is not seriously hurt. It was she who spread the alarm.

HEAD ALMOST SEVERED

The house was dark and quiet when, between 2 and 3:30 o'clock this morning, a maid tipped down the long flights of steps to the cellar, where she obtained a short-handled ax with a long, sharp blade. She retraced her steps, took a firm grasp on the handle and struck the head of George H. Davey, 46, and severed it.

He was sleeping. She raised the ax and aimed for her employer's throat, it wavered fiercely. Four more times she struck his throat and chiseled his large vein and almost severing his head.

His first sharp groan of pain awoke his wife. While believing he was having a nightmare, she was told that while he had been addicted, Mrs. Davey nevertheless shock Winfred.

"Get up and see if daddy is all right," she cried to her daughter.

In the doorway of Mrs. Davey's room was the maid still holding the ax. Brushing the little girl aside with the use of the weapon, she entered the room where Mrs. Davey was not sitting up in bed, frightened.

"What's the matter? Are you frightened, Mary?" she asked.

WIFE ATTACKED

The maid did not answer but crept up to the bed. Mrs. Davey, who was sleeping, was suddenly terminated by a sharp blow to the ax against her throat. Mary raised the tool again and again hacking the woman's neck, severing the upper part of her body and once on her ankle, the force of the blow almost severing the foot.

The daughter rushed down the stairs and telephoned police headquarters.

"God told me to kill them all," she cried out to a policeman. "I am glad I got rid of one."

Police Chief Patrick Kiley asked.

"Why should I be sorry when the Lord told me to do it?" she replied.

Krassin and Joffe Said to Have Amassed Large Fortunes Since 1920

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

CONSTANTINOPLE, Nov. 27.—Leonid Krassin, the new Soviet ambassador to France, has accumulated a fortune of between $20,000,000 and $35,000,000 since the revolution in Russia.

He made one of his biggest coups when in England in 1920 negotiating a commercial treaty with David Lloyd George, he disclosed that the stocks of tea in Great Britain were uninsured.

The land adjoins the original Superior townsite on the south and already is occupied by 250 houses, the most valuable at $50,000. Plaintiff in the pending action is the United States, with averment that the land carries no valuable mineral in place. Opposing contention recites that the area is one of the most prospective of great values and that the probabilities are strong that valuable ore will be found below the surface.

In many respects the case is considerably similar to the Rouge River suit, a number of years ago affecting ownership of ground in the mining area near Babbie. The first rulings in the Babbie action were in favor of the claimants, but the higher court is reported to have decided adversely. The local suit is considered even more important, as the ground is needed for extension of the town, which is growing fast.

Despondent Girl Jumps Into Lake, Screams for Aid

Despondent because of undivided reasons, a young, pretty and well-dressed woman took off her shoes and sprang into Echo Park Lake about 3:30 o'clock last night, apparently intending to end it all. The cool waters immediately took the breath from her and she cried lustily for help.

Charles Lightner, 1222 Temple street, and Hartwell Stubblefield, 1422 Bellevue avenue, heard the woman's screams and rescued her. She was taken to Receiving Hospital where it was said she will recover.

Detectors Lieutenant Oker and Stevens were unable to persuade the woman to reveal her name or address. She said she was 19 years of age.

British Subaltern Played Bridge With Stranger, Now Gets Fortune

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

LONDON, Nov. 27.—Three young officers in the Indian service have been willed an income of $100,000 a year because they knew how to play bridge and were kind to an old gentleman returning to India.

They were on board ship when the aged man asked them to play with him. He said he was a poor player and the other passengers didn't wish him in their games.

The young officers joined the elderly man, and when they disembarked at Calcutta forgot the incident. Recently they have been notified they were made heirs of the man's large estate.

FLORIDA GRIDDERS DEFEAT DRAKE TEAM

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

FLEMING FIELD, (Gainesville, Fla.) Nov. 27.—Ability of the University of Florida's fighting Gators to break up the efforts at aerial passing by the Bulldogs of Drake University, combined with the telling effects of Florida's driving weather, proved the undoing of the visitors here yesterday. The game was marked by brilliant play of Dick Brown, flashy open-field runner, for Florida.

Neither team was able to score during the first half of the game, although the ball was repeatedly sent from one end of the field to the other.

TAMPA (Fla.), Nov. 27.—America's foremost girl swimmers—all Olympic and national champions and world's record holders—will appear here in a two-day meet, February 21 and 22. The carnival will be held in the picturesque Tampa Bay, the pool being adaptable to record-breaking performances. Efforts are being made to bring the national indoor fancy diving championship here to be held during the two-day meet.

Acceptances to compete in the Temple Terrace gala have already been received from the following international stars: Alice Riegel, Sybil Bauer, Martha Neelis, Agnes Geraghty, Helen Wainwright, Ethel Luckie and Gertrude Ederle. All of these girls scored points for Uncle Sam at the last Olympic games in Paris.

This meet will mark the only appearance of these world-famous stars on the west coast of Florida.

It is expected that a dozen more girls will be in the party of aquatic wizards who will compete in the Temple Terrace natatorium.

Acceptances are also pending for the appearance at Temple Terrace of Johnny Weissmuller, "Stubby" Krueger and other men champions in aquatic sports. They will probably show their stuff here the last week in the girls' meet.

OLD TESTAMENT TEXT REVISED

Scotch Theologian Offers New Translation

Obscure Terms Changed to Present-Day Words

Work is Result of Eight Years' Endeavor

(BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE)
NEW YORK, Nov. 27.—Publication of a translation of the Old Testament in modern English in which the Garden of Eden is called a park, Noah's Ark is termed a barge and the city of David is named Davidburg, was announced today.

It is the work of Dr. James Moffatt, Scotch theologian, Greek and Hebrew scholar, who two years ago translated the New Testament into modern English. Announcement of the book's publication in the prominent publishing firm of George H. Doran Company. (The George H. Doran Company.) It will be released December 1.

Dr. Moffatt, who is professor of church history at the United Theological College of Edinburgh, writes in his preface that it is his belief that the Bible cannot be properly understood by the present generation unless it appears to them in the language of their everyday life. Just as it did in the generation from whom it was taken. It is his belief that the Bible should be translated fresh for each succeeding generation.

The book, destined to be the first translation of the Old Testament since the publication of King James Bible in 1611.

EIGHT YEARS OF LABOR

The book, entitled "The Old Testament, a New Translation," is the result of eight years' unaided labor on the part of the Scotch theologian, who declares that it is no mere task of reworking any previous English translation, but is a translation of the ancient Hebrew texts. Through the use of modern English and the substitution of terms and geographical descriptions familiar to the present generation for those used in other translations of the Old Testament. Dr. Moffatt has drawn an entirely new picture in many passages where the meaning seems to have been obscured by obsolete phraseology.

Dr. Moffatt's story of the creation follows:

NEW TRANSLATION

"Then God, the Eternal, molded man from the dust of the ground, breathing into his nostrils the breath of life; this was now man become a living soul."

"In the land of Eden, in the Far East, God the Eternal, then planted a park, where he put the man whom He had molded."

"And from the ground itself, the Eternal caused all kinds of trees to grow that were delightful to see and good to eat, with the Tree of Life and the tree that yields knowledge of good and evil in the center of the park."

"From Eden a river flowed to water the park, which on leaving the park branched into four streams. He interposed the tree of the knowledge of good and evil in the center of the park."

"Build a barge of cypress wood; build cabins inside the barge, and cover it with pitch inside and out."

"This is how you are to build it: the barge is to be 450 feet long, 75 feet broad and 45 feet high."

"You must put windows in the barge eighteen inches from the roof and make a door in the side of the barge, also put three decks in it."

GIRL SCOUTS EARN CONSTRUCTION FUND

KANSAS MAIDENS PERMANENT CAMP FINANCED BY SELF-DENIAL

(EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH)

HUTCHINSON (Kan.) Nov. 27.—Members of the Girl Scouts organization in this city are a happy group of young women. The reason for their happiness is that they have a cabin of their own, a cozy, comfortable, substantial building where they may practice their scout craft in the proper manner.

The cabin is located on the banks of Cow Creek, in a secluded spot, and within good hiking distance of the city. It is a well-constructed, comfortable, having a fireplace, a kitchen, a large assembly room which ultimately will be equipped with all the necessary devices to make "roughing it" a pleasure.

The girls, however, is that the girls themselves earned the money to pay for the building. For several years they have sold candy, ice cream, soft drinks, and various viands at each weekly outdoor concert given by the Hutchinson Band. Last Fourth of July when a monster celebration was staged here for all Southwest Kansas the girls operated a soft-drink concession on the grounds.

At State fair time they have staged a stand at the fair. In these and other ways they have made money, which little by little was saved and today the cabin stands as a reward for their efforts.

The cabin has been named Fairchild Cabin, in honor of Mrs. W. G. Fairchild, who inaugurated the Girl Scout movement here.

Mexico Ready to Complete Ratification

Reserves Right to Control Immigration

Entry of Orientals Will be Encouraged

(BY CARLOS—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH)
(Copyright, 1924, by the Chinese Tribune)
MEXICO CITY, Nov. 27.—It was stated semi-officially today that the treaty of friendship, commerce and navigation between Mexico and Japan, which has been ratified by the Senate of Mexico, will soon be put into force. The treaty provides that it is to become law fifteen days after formal ratification by both nations. President Obregon, through the Foreign Minister, is investigating certain points preparatory to the final act.

The treaty provides for drawing Mexico and Japan closer together along lines of commerce and trade. The present, at least, Mexico will encourage Japanese immigration, but, reserves the right to regulate immigration as it sees fit as a matter concerning the Department of the Interior of Mexico alone.

The treaty encourages the exchange of Mexican raw products for Japanese manufactured goods. It was stated today that behind this clause are two strong Japanese commercial concerns ready to make heavy shipments of Japanese goods to Mexico.

The treaty provides that commerce and trade shall be absolute. It is agreed that Mexico will not interfere with its mutual commerce if it wished to do so as to make Japan a favored nation. This is purely a matter of future agreement between the two nations.

Mexico also agrees to protect the rights and property and other interests of Japanese residents in Mexico.

The treaty is said to be the result of negotiations and compromise. It was signed on Oct. 20 by the part of representatives of both countries for over a year. The keynote of the friendship part of the treaty was sounded a year ago by General Obregon, who informed Mexico that the Japanese government and people would not collect from Mexico indemnities for damages in the revolution. This is very significant for at that time the United States refused to accept the Japanese demands, whereupon here was attempting to arrange for the payment of revolutionary damages.

Mexico and Japan agreed in the treaty to refrain from holding the other responsible for damages caused by civil war or local disturbances.

The treaty will last five years and will continue in force then, provided both parties agree that the other that it is resinding same one year before its expiration.

CANADA'S BURBANK GROWS NEW WHEAT

(EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH)
SASKATOON (Sask.) Nov. 27.—Wheat with twelve rows heads has been evolved by Seager Wheeler, the "Burbank" of Canada, on his experimental farm near Rostherne. Eight row wheat hitherto has been regarded as record grain in Western Canada.

The heavy yielding quality of the new wheat, according to Dr. Wheeler, is due to the fact that many of the heads contain as many as 120 grains. Some of the berries, he said, were as large as navy beans. The new wheat, which is a variety of Red Bob, with medium size berries, and it shows above the ground. It escapes early frosts and ripens before rust makes its appearance.

Seager Wheeler, recognized as the wheat wizard of North America, has won many international championships with his wheat and many lesser honors, and scored a world's production record with eight-two bushels to the acre.

Million Pilgrims Bend Steps to Vatican

Profiteers Expect to Reap Harvest

FREDERIC J. HASKIN
(EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH)

WASHINGTON, Nov. 27.—Catholics from all over the world will make pilgrimages to the Vatican during the year which the Pope has proclaimed Anno Santo, or Holy Year.

The celebration was inaugurated A.D. by Pope Boniface VIII in 1300, and has been held almost every year since.

It is estimated that 1,000,000 possibly million pilgrims are expected during the year, in addition to the usual number of tourists.

One German company has undertaken to bring German Catholics to Rome, at approximately one-half a million for the year.

Among the churches of most ancient founding still in use are Santa Pudenziana, traditionally the oldest, dating from Saint Peter's establishment of a place of worship in the house of Pudens, St. Maria, in Transtevere, founded in the beginning of the third century; San Paolo, Fuori le Mura, on the spot where the body of Paul was buried.

Every year these churches echo the footfalls of thousands of American tourists. In 1922, with the organization of the Holy Year, the number quoted as having visited at least 50,000 rooms are estimated to have doubled by the end of the year.

Most of the visitors will be well off with funds and will be able to buy almost anything they want or have no place to go in such circumstances. It is difficult to protect them and their families, for they will be compelled to protect themselves in the welfare of the country.

Speculators who are building the new apartments and villas and who are establishing new hotels and pensions expect to get back their entire capital investment during the coming year.

Prices of all the articles which tourists usually buy in Rome will go soaring. Rome is a city of retailers, many of whom cater almost exclusively to foreigners who spend generously on a visit, buying art works, lace and embroidery, majolica ware, artistic leather work, lithographic prints, jewelry and the like, and it is really this sort of business that makes Rome particularly attractive. Needless to say these dealers are looking forward to a big year.

Up to the present there appears to have been no arrangements made for special shipping services between Italy and the United States on account of the Anno Santo rush. However, the Italian Lines, Signor Morelli, now in New York, to take up the same of running extra steamers for pilgrims and the matter of discounts or reduced round trip rates.

It is by no means certain that materialized special rates will be made. The normal tourist business in season is said to be sufficient to fill the American passenger service in regular service, and this will mean heavy discounts unless they should resort to special accommodations on particular vessels, operated solely for the pilgrimage.

In the near future the long-projected water-storage dam on the Gila River, near San Carlos, will be constructed. SUIT MAY INVALIDATE DIVORCES

Victim of Reno Decree Attacks Legality of All Nevada Separations

EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH

RENO, Nov. 27.—Declaring the decision of the District Court Bartlett in upholding the divorce of Nathan A. Confer from Emma E. Confer has not settled the legal status of Nevada divorces, attorneys for Mrs. Confer have given notice of appeal to the Nevada Supreme Court. They state their action is based on law, and not sentiment founded on benefits enjoyed by some Nevada people from the divorce laws.

Mr. Confer and his attorneys contend that temporary residence with the sole purpose of obtaining a divorce violates the spirit and meaning of the Nevada Divorce Act, and that while divorces granted in other states are permanent, those granted in Nevada are temporary.

In his decision upholding the divorce, Judge Bartlett ruled that physical residence of the plaintiff in any county of Nevada for a continuous period of six months met all citizenship requirements to entitle such person to the enjoyment of all State privileges, including the divorce statute.

The court further held that after obtaining the decree plaintiff exercised his full legal rights for his wife, and that such a change in residence did not affect the legality of any divorce granted under the laws of this State.

ROMANCE FATAL*Aged Husband Slays Young Wife in Anger*Suspects She Married Him for Money Only*Elderly Slayer Wounds Self in Suicide Try

(EXCLUSIVELY DISPATCH)

LOUISVILLE (Ky.) Because he wanted to keep his wife "from wrecking other men's lives," William V. Smith, 61 years of age, fatally shot Mrs. Beatrice Smith, 25, his bride of five months. Then he turned the pistol on himself. The woman died, but Smith probably will recover. Mrs. Smith received two bullets in the body. The husband shot himself in the shoulder.

Smith is quoted as saying this was the first time he had ever used a pistol. After he had shot his wife, he fled at 8:15 a.m. less than three hours ago.

Smith, who lives at LaGrange, Oldham county, and was formerly a member of the City Council there, came to Louisville and went to the apartment he had rented in this city for his bride when they ceased housekeeping at the rural town. He came in response to a note from her in which she said she was "thirsty and hungry." The police said they believed he had made up his mind to kill the woman and commit suicide. Smith's own story follows:

"I married this woman several months ago. She was a lot younger than I am. I suppose you will not break up no other man's home. Your husband, W. V. Smith."

The note the young wife wrote to her husband of December age said: "I am broke. What do you want? I am going to do? I would like to know. Am I coming down here or what? Dr. Windell wants you to sign that lease or we can't stay here but a month unless it is signed. Let me hear from you or write or answer. I have to go to Katherine and let her know I am hungry." Katherine's last name was not disclosed. Dr. J. C. Windell, owner of the building, said that Smith had signed a month's lease for the apartment early the day of the shooting.

Suspect Denies Confession in Double Slaying

BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE

FREDERICTON (N. B.) Nov. 27.—Harry D. Williams held here in connection with the murder of his two nieces, Cynthia and Olivia Foster, at Fredericton, N. B., near the Maine border, denied today that he had made any admission of guilt when first confronted by authorities.

Williams explained that he had surrendered to the authorities on discovery of the double murder in his cabin because he knew he would be suspected and blamed.

Cynthia was 14 years of age, and Olivia, 10.

Williams said he had not made arrangements for counsel as he had no money.

Queen Sophie of Greece is now living in Florida with her husband in an apartment barely large enough to house the two, a lady-in-waiting and a governess.

WHITE FANG
by Jack London

Smith stepped into the ring and pointed his finger at White Fang. Then he began to laugh derisively and scornfully. This produced the desired effect. White Fang went wild with rage. He called up his reserves of strength, galloped around the ring, the fifty pounds of his foe ever dragging on his throat, his anger passes on into panic. The basic life of the dog dominated him. His intentions were fed before the will of his flesh to live.

"Round and round and back again, stumbling and falling and rising, even appearing at times on his hind legs and having his feet clear of the earth he struggled vainly to shake off the clinging death.

At last he fell, toppling backward, exhausted; and the bulldog promptly shifted his grip, getting a hold on the other's fore paw.

White Fang was practically strangled. Now and again he resisted spasmodically and to no purpose. He could get little purchase with his claws now less and less against the merciless grip that tightened.

In spite of his armor of fur, the great vein of his throat would have long since been torn open had not the first grip of the bulldog been so low that he practically on the chest. It had taken Cherokee a long time to shift that grip upward, and this had also tended further to close his jaws with force and skin-fold.

In the meantime the animal brute in Beauty Smith had been rising up into his brain and mastering the small bit of sanity that he possessed at best. When he saw White Fang's eyes beginning to roll, he knew beyond doubt that the fight was lost. Then he broke loose. He sprang upon White Fang and began savagely to kick him. There were hisses from the crowd, and cries of protest, but that was all. With the weight of Beauty Smith continued to kick White Fang. There was a commotion in the crowd. The tall young newcomer was forcing his way through the spectators and right out left without ceremony or gentleness. When he broke through into the ring, Beauty Smith was just in the act of delivering another kick. All that moment the newcomer's fist landed a smashing blow full in his face. Beauty Smith's remaining leg left the ground and his whole body seemed to lift into the air as he turned over backward and struck the snow. The newcomer turned upon the crowd.

"You cowards!" he cried. "You beast!"

He was in a rage himself—a sane rage. His gray eyes seemed metallic and steel-like as they flashed upon the crowd. Beauty Smith regained his feet and came toward him, sniffling and cowardly.

The newcomer did not understand. He did not know how abject a coward the other was, and thought he was coming back intent on fighting. So, with a "You beast!" he smashed Beauty Smith over backward with a savage blow in the face. Beauty Smith decided that the snow was the safest place for him, and lay where he had fallen, making no effort to get up.

"Come on, Matt, lend a hand," the newcomer called to the dog-masters who had followed him into the ring.

Both men bent over the dogs.

Matt took hold of White Fang, ready to pull when Cherokee's jaws should be loosened. The younger man endeavored to accomplish by clutching the bulldog's jaws in his hands and trying to spread them. It was a vain undertaking. As he pulled and tugged and wrenched, he kept exclaiming with every exclamation of breath.

"Beasts!" The crowd began to grow unruly, and some of the men were protesting against the spilling of the sport, but they were overruled when the newcomer lifted his head from his work for a moment and glared at them.

"You damn beasts!" he finally exploded, and went back to his task.

"It's no use, Mr. Scott, you can not break 'em apart that way," Matt said at last.

The pair paused and surveyed the locked dogs.

"They'll bleedin' much," Matt announced. "Ain't got all the way in yet."

"But he is liable to any moment," Scott answered. "There, did you see that? He shifted his grip in a bit."

The younger man's excitement and apprehension for White Fang was growing. He struck Cherokee about the head savagely again and again. But this did not loosen the jaws. Cherokee wriggled the stump of his tail in advertisement that he understood the meaning of the blows, but that he knew he was himself in the right and only doing his duty by keeping his grip.

"For God's sake, you help!" Scott cried desperately at the crowd.

But no help was offered. Instead, the crowd began sarcastically to cheer him on and showered him with facetious advice.

"You'll have to get a pry," Matt commanded.

The other reached into the holster at his hip, drew his revolver, and tried to thrust its muzzle between the bulldog's jaws. He shoved, and shoved hard, till the grating of the metal against the broken teeth could be distinctly heard. Both men were on their knees, bending over the dogs. Tim Keenan strides into the ring. He paused beside Scott and touched him on the shoulder, saying ominously:

"Don't break them teeth, stranger."

"Then I'll break his neck," Scott retorted, continuing his shoving and wedging with the revolver muzzle.

"I said don't break them teeth," the faro-dealer repeated more ominously than before.

But it did not work. Scott never desisted from his efforts, though he looked up coolly and asked:

"You faro-dealer grunted.

"Then get in here and break his grip."

"Well, stranger," the other man drawled irritably. "I don't mind telling you that's something I have not worked out myself. I do not know how to turn the trick."

"Then get out of the way," was the reply, "and don't bother me. I'm busy."

Tim Keenan continued standing over him, but Scott took no further notice of the man, and between the jaws on one side and was trying to get it out between the jaws on the other side. This accomplished, he pried gently and carefully, loosening the jaws a bit at a time, while Matt, a bit at a time, extricated White Fang's mangled neck.

"Stand by to receive your dog," was Scott's peremptory order to Cherokee's master.

The faro-dealer stooped down obediently and got a firm hold on Cherokee.

"Now!" Scott warned, giving the final pry.

The dogs were drawn apart, the bulldog struggling vigorously.

"Take him away," Scott commanded, and Tim Keenan dragged Cherokee back into the crowd.

CROSS WORD PUZZLE

Every number in the form represents the beginning of a word, reading either horizontally or vertically. If there is a black square to the left of the number, the word is horizontal; if above it, the word is vertical. The same number may of course begin both a horizontal and a vertical. The definitions for the correct words to fill are found below, with numbers corresponding to those on the form. Run through the definitions till you find one that you recognize, and put it in the proper place on the form, one letter for each white square. This will furnish several cross-clues to the words linking with it at right angles. Continue in this manner till the form is completely filled. If you have solved the puzzle correctly, it should read both horizontally and vertically with words corresponding to the definitions.

SYNDICATE TO IMPROVE BEACH

Fortune to be Spent Near Santa Barbara

Project Depends on Report of Engineers

Fashionable Hotel Part of Proposed Plan

(EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH)

SANTA BARBARA, Nov. 27.—The greatest piece of beach reclamation and building that can be considered along the coast of Santa Barbara county is being planned by a syndicate which recently purchased seven acres of Montecito Park, on Channel Drive, at a price which set a new scale for oceanfront in Montecito.

Misses Bernard and Louis nationally known dressers who have been called upon by the city several times in consultation, has made a preliminary survey of the Montecito Park beach and is expected to report to the Montecito Park Company early next week. It is understood that his report shows that the reclamation can be accomplished as cheaply as he predicted during a consultation with the directors of the company here this week that the work of building groins will begin at once.

The improvement planned by the Montecito Park company in which John E. Miller, president of the Southern California Edison Company, and F. F. Schlesinger, of San Francisco, are the principal stockholders, is the outgrowth of work done by George Owen Knapp upon beach which he purchased about a year ago near Miramar where a beach price record only established.

Mr. Knapp built small jetties into the ocean and proved on a small scale that coast subjected to the same tides and wave action as Miramar and Montecito Park can be built up quickly by protecting jetties. The plan of Montecito Park promoters is to carry out this plan on a gigantic scale and build a beach 1000 feet deep for the stretch in front of the seven acres of the park. Although the plan of the Montecito Park Company depends upon formal report they expect next week, directors of the company to be confident that the improvement will be successful.

The directors of the company remain silent concerning their plans for the property which must be greatly improved, if it will, to return a profit on the immense investment made in the small tract. However, rumors of the plan for building on the beach are spreading afar toward the erection of one of California's greatest hotels sometime to grow.

Explosion, Two Blazes Cause Damage to Property Estimated at $20,000

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

LONG BEACH, Nov. 27.—Two fires resulting from an explosion, munched large portions of the field property and the northwest extension and caused property damage estimated at $20,000 today. The Davis-McMillan No. 2 well was destroyed by the first blaze that followed an explosion at the well. The second fire, breaking out several hours later in the extension of the field west of American avenue, menaced surrounding property but resulted in small property damage.

A gas explosion at the Davis-McMillan well, Orinda avenue and Summit street, was the cause of the first and most destructive blaze, shortly before daylight.

Members of the drilling crew had narrowly escaped from death. They had been engaged in running in sucker rods, preparatory to placing the well back on the pump, when a spark, the origin of which is unknown, ignited accumulated gas in the hole.

The resulting explosion was heard for considerable distance and the flames that shot upward from the well menaced surrounding wells and tanks filled with crude oil and gasoline stocks. Firemen from the Signal Hill department and the fire-fighting corps of the Shell Company and the General Petroleum Company in battling the blaze. After a hard battle lasting more than three hours the fire was gotten under control and extinguished by the use of chemicals.

Three big gasoline tanks within sixty feet of the burning derrick, and the rear of the plant of the Standard Gasoline Company, were damaged for more than an hour and firemen centered their efforts on saving tanks and plant, thus preventing an explosion that would have rocked Long Beach and the surrounding country and caused untold damage.

A CHUCKLE FOR EVERYBODY

LOCAL LAUGHS

Each week The Times produces a gem entitled "Local Laughs," consisting of the fifteen best jokes submitted by local people. Weekly prizes are paid of $1.00 for the best joke and $1.00 for the best illustration. Rules for submitting jokes are given daily in the comic section. The names and addresses of winners appear only on the screen. Jokes receiving honorable mention will be given a place of honor on The Times comic page each week, and each of these contributors will receive a souvenir of acknowledgement.

The cat is in the parlor, the dog is in the lake; the cow is in the hammock. What difference does it make? — Fred Sturdy, 2607 La Salle avenue, city.

Peter: Say, will you let me have a dollar for a week, old man? Jim: "Where's the week old man?" — E. Crawford, 1842 West Fifteenth street, City.

Mrs. Smith: I want to know how much money my husband drew out of the bank last week.

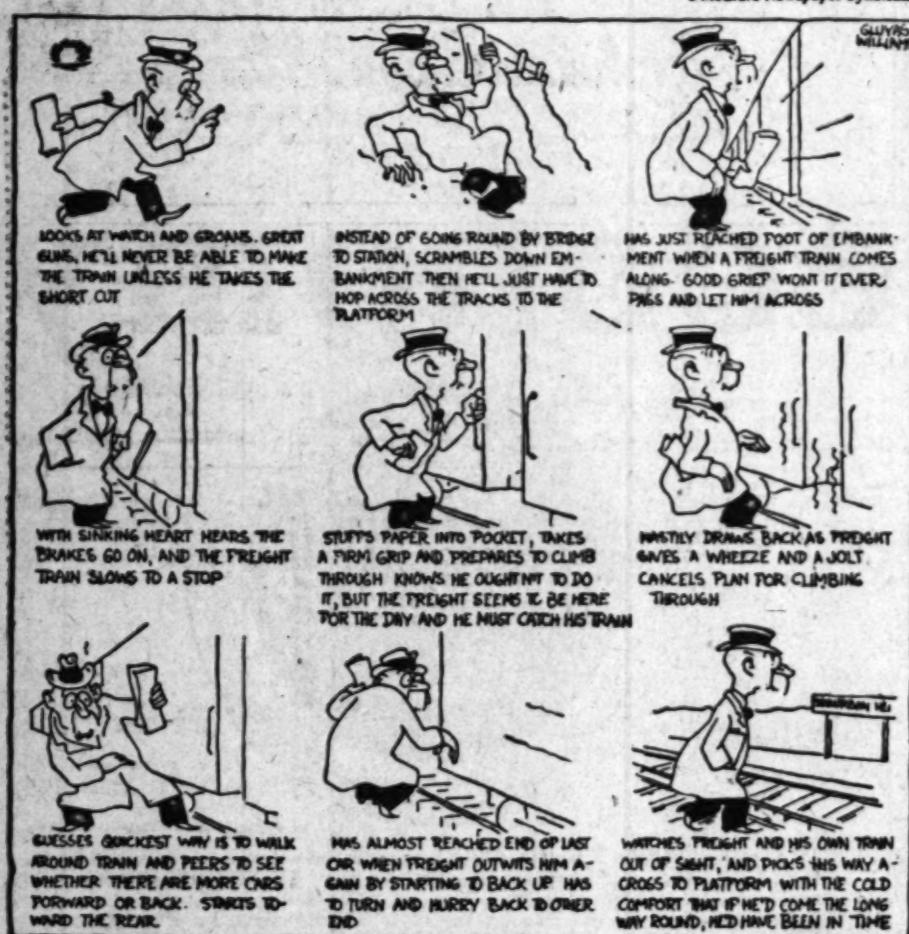

Teller: I can't give you that information.

Mrs. Smith: You're the paying teller, aren't you?

Teller: Yes, but I'm not the telling payer. — Mrs. L. M. Gibb's, 1302 Fremont avenue, South Pasadena.

ELIMINATION OF WASTE SOUGHT

Hoover's Annual Report Tells

of Department Strides

Definite National Campaign on Against Losses

More Perfect Economic Machine Wanted for Country

"Elimination of national waste" is the keynote of Secretary Hoover's annual report, made public at the Department of Commerce today. Under the caption Mr. Hoover reports the accomplishments of the department during the first three years of the present administration, notably in the fields of unemployment, seasonal conservation, and the promotion of state-of-the-art simplified practice, co-operative marketing, and the reduction of housing costs. Trade association activities are discussed from the standpoint of the government's role in the same. The conference on street and highway safety, to take place at the department next month, is referred to as an effort to cope with the most challenging of all wastes—the waste of human life.

"A definite constructive national program has been developed for the elimination of waste in our economic system," Mr. Hoover said. "The need is plain. The American standard of living is the product of high quality production and low prices to consumers. The road to national progress lies in increasing real wages through proportionately lower prices. The one and only way is to improve methods and procedures and eliminate waste. Just as twenty years ago we undertook nationwide conservation of natural resources, so now we must undertake nation-wide elimination of waste. Regulation and laws are not bad means, but they do not fundamental things. But by well-directed economic forces, by co-operation in the community, we can not only maintain American standards of living—without reducing depressions, and from speculation and over-production in booms, wastes attributable to labor turnover and the stress of labor conflicts, wastes due to inefficient and seasonal production, as in the coal and construction industries; waste from structures in commerce due to inadequate transportation, such as the lack of efficient terminals in products; wastes in materials arising from lack of efficient processes; wastes by fire, and wastes in human life.

DANGEROUS MOON CURVED

"We have the highest interest and efficiency in the operation of our industry and commerce of any nation in the world. Yet our economic machine is far from perfect. There are wastes which arise from the nature of our industry, from depressions, and from speculation and over-production in booms, wastes attributable to labor turnover and the stress of labor conflicts, wastes due to inefficient and seasonal production, as in the coal and construction industries; waste from structures in commerce due to inadequate transportation, such as the lack of efficient terminals in products; wastes in materials arising from lack of efficient processes; wastes by fire, and wastes in human life.

One of the axioms of the economist is that the silver never comes to the Orient never comes back. The practice of hoarding and melting the metal for the arts and as a constant drain on the supply. Consequently, the years of active domestic business and of foreign trade are harbingers of good news for the silver-mining industry. In 1931, the United States was the second largest producer of cotton and exports a large quantity to Continental Europe and to England. China grows some cotton and exports a variety of goods to the United States and Europe. Both are good buyers in the world's markets. With their masses of population and potential purchasing power these two nations offer immense possibilities to those designed to help the copper producers.

More attention has been directed to the copper people in connection with the Filipinos given to economic Europe by the operation of the Silver Act. Not only did it to a certain degree the silver producers were vitally interested. Improvement of buying power in Europe is of considerable significance to India and China. Anything that promotes the friendly relations between the two countries is a welcome development to the silver miners, who look to the Orient as their best market.

One of the axioms of the economist is that the silver never comes to the Orient never comes back. The practice of hoarding and melting the metal for the arts and as a constant drain on the supply. Consequently, the years of active domestic business and of foreign trade are harbingers of good news for the silver-mining industry. In 1931, the United States was the second largest producer of cotton and exports a large quantity to Continental Europe and to England. China grows some cotton and exports a variety of goods to the United States and Europe. Both are good buyers in the world's markets. With their masses of population and potential purchasing power these two nations offer immense possibilities to those designed to help the copper producers.

At the outset the secretary reviews briefly the work of the national conference on unemployment in 1931, and says that the report on the unemployment and the housing cycle did much to curb the beginnings of a dangerous cycle in the spring of 1932.

A second committee from the unemployment conference undertaken by a body of economists in the construction industries this committee made its report last July.

The report concluded that custom and research for the seasonal up and down in building and that these evils are largely unnecessary and can be eliminated," Mr. Hoover said. "For most types of construction, he noted, production is highest in all parts of the United States. The elimination of these wastes would strengthen the entire business structure, for construction is the balance wheel of American industry."

The annual report then turns to the bituminous coal industry. Of accomplishments in this field Mr. Hoover says:

"Through co-operation of trade associations of coal manufacturers, through chambers of commerce and public utilities a large amount of regular summer storage has been induced. Through the fine co-operation of railroads and terminal facilities have been provided and car shortages have been largely eliminated. Through co-operation by the department with the leaders of the United Mine Workers a long-term agreement has been entered upon, which insures industrial peace in the industry."

RESEARCH WORK

The program of the northeast superpower committee, under Mr. Hoover's chairmanship, is discussed in another offering of the division of waste elimination. Revision of Federal and State purchasing specifications, under the auspices of the Bureau of Standards, is another important research work undertaken by the bureau, in co-operation with the industries concerned, and with view to improvement in technical processes, is still another. After summarizing the wastes of the principal item of marketing perishable products, Mr. Hoover concludes:

"It has been the department's view that the best remedy for these evils lies in the extension of co-operative marketing and in the better organization of the distributor's at the terminal markets. The department has already proposed a definite plan which I believe will make it possible to reduce these wastes with a minimum of governmental intervention."

Under the head of reducing housing costs, Mr. Hoover says: "The high cost of new construction brought to the front the necessity for the elimination of waste in that field as a contribution to lowering costs within the purchasing power of the community." The report tells how the department recently took the lead in an investigation of the tremendous human and physical losses due to traffic accidents, particularly on streets, and brought in a staff indicating that the deaths in 1932

had been upward.

Some reflection of these changing conditions is seen in the variations in the principal items in the combined balance sheet of the reporting banks.

"Deposits increased sharply in 1932, declined moderately after the spring of 1932, when the volume of business was receding, and have again been accelerating rate since last fall. The growth in the latter half of 1932 has been more rapid than at any other time since the upturn began in 1931. The recent advance has been for the most part a demand deposit, whereas in 1931 the deposits increased the greater relative increase. It is noticeable that time deposits constitute the one item which has increased practically without interruption throughout the last twelve months."

"The extraordinary inflow of gold from abroad, many have thought, would inevitably result in a drastic inflation of credit and prices. Even if the incoming gold had mainly gone to swell the reserves of the Federal Reserve banks, their extensions of credit might have continued to moderate. But the gold was not so utilized. Rather, we have seen for some time past its gradual distribution in the form of loans and advances."

"The most tangible evidence of excess expansion of credit or currency, when it exists, is found in the course of commodity prices. Not much anxiety can be aroused concerning inflation so long as prices in the average remain stable or decline."

"Bradstreet's index of wholesale prices on the 1st inst., recorded a net rise of 1.6 per cent in a year and 3.1 per cent in the first nine months of 1932."

"As measured by the usual indexes, the curve of the general volume of business moved almost continuously upward from the summer of 1931 until the spring of 1932, when it high led off again.

Thereafter the trend was downward, interrupted by the brief rise

early this year, until last summer.

Since that time the movement has again upward.

Some reflection of these changing conditions is seen in the variations in the principal items in the combined balance sheet of the reporting banks.

"Such purpose and do no such

things. The dividing line, however,

between what is in the public interest and what is not is not

clearly defined either by the law

or by court decision."

DIVIDENDS APPROVED

Two dividends, both quarterly,

one of 1 3/4 per cent on Edison

preferred, series "A," and one of

1 1/4 per cent on series "B," 4 per cent stock, have been authorized

by such activities as open-prices

associations and other arrangements

to control distribution or price.

It is equally true that the vast ma-Jority of trade associations have no

such purpose and do no such

things. The dividing line, however,

between what is in the public interest and what is not is not

clearly defined either by the law

or by court decision."

SUITS FOR SURCHARGE

Washington Lawyer to Sue

Court to Recover Millions

A controversy over $100,000,000 is almost a year old, and a $500,000 has been spent by the parties involved in it, and which will run into thousands of dollars before the suit reaches the Court of Appeals.

On one side is the Pullman company, which is simply asking to participate in the other side's action.

Jr., a Washington lawyer, conducted the suit on behalf of the Pullman and the thousands who ride in Pullman cars as equally determined to have it decided in their favor.

This means that both sides are in the same boat, and the company last year when it came to New York to have its chance to have its case heard in the Congressional Church.

Following an elaborate musical service, Dr. Herbert Booth Smith

and his wife of the morn'ning

Pullman charge of the "Thanksgiving" pointed to the real object of the amounting to $4,15,000,000 was apparently all the spirit of Thanksgiving to the dawn of history.

RUSSIANS SET HIGH STANDARDOrchestra Entertains on Thanksgiving Night*Shukletsky as Soloist Wins High Praise*Spirit of Old World is Program Feature

BY CLAIRE FORBES CRANE

A little later on I will render my tribute to the artistry, both collectively and individually, which comprised the program given last evening by the Los Angeles Soap Company in honor of "White King." For the moment, let us talk together of thought which moved us all when we heard "Uncle John" announced a Russian program for Thanksgiving night!

When the little band of Pilgrim Fathers held their first festival little realized that they would and oppressed people from all nations giving thanks for having reached the haven of America's shore. But last evening a little group of Russians, arriving at the finger tips, expressed their gratitude to the passengers of the Mayflower for their new found peace and prosperity.

True majesty always establishes a precedent, and the "White King," on the occasion of his first "radio concert" in Los Angeles, the entertainment for which lesser lights strive in vain. As the programs of the Los Angeles Soap Company are under the direction of J. Howard Johnson, there can be no less than to this high standard ever faltering.

"KING" ON THRONE

Last night the "White King" sat within the winter splendor of Persepolis the Great. Gathered around the throne was the Russian Balalaika Orchestra—Alexander D. Dobrohotoff, Russian imperial soloist, and director, adorned in every vestment of the robes. G. Allison Phelan, the court philosopher, engaged in earnest conversation with the prime minister. A famous Russian bass, George Shukletsky, stood before the harpsichord, glancing dreamily into the flames, and from a dimly lit corner came the distant preluding of a piano mingled with the haunting voice of Calmen Lopovitsky's violin.

You may remember that Alexander Dobrohotoff was made private instructor to Prince Alexis, son of the Czar. The Balalaika, a three-stringed product of Russian architecture, is a novel instrument, but Dobrohotoff by laborious effort, together with his devoted comrades has made more than twenty of these instruments, which are the only ones on this continent.

Through every number pulsated the wild longings and laughing akin to tears which only the Slave may know. The orchestra is now playing for a week at the Capriccio Room, Los Angeles Harborland, and after the triumph of yesterday should draw everyone to hear it as the Pied Piper of Hamlin entices the children of long ago.

G. Allison Phelan, a sensitive soul, a genuine bass voice and rare histrionic ability. His knowledge and reverence for the creations of the old countrymen find in a succession of beautiful tone pictures which you would find difficult to duplicate. Last night he gave such gems as Tchaikowsky's "Night," Glazier's "Autumn Leaves," and it from an opera, "The Demon," by Rubinstein, totally unknown in America.

CALMON LUBOVISKI

I feel sure that Calmon Luboviski will forgive me if I say that he is a complete both physically and musically, of the "Old World" may give us as a standard of artistic ideals.

If you want to follow "radio fashions," it is quite the thing to ask G. Allison Phelan to pass on the spirit of the occasion into one of his inimitable talks. Even those of us who expect fine things from

to God and thus winning for ourselves more blessings is to cherish and guard and love those which He has already given us."

CHILDREN'S HOUR

Of course, there had to be a "Children's Hour" on Thanksgiving Day. It fittingly brought us little Jane Hughes, who of the clear vision and loving heart, whose job is in giving voice to the thoughts which clamor for expression within her.

"All of us gaze toward the hills over which we are hoping to see the sun rise. Some of the hills are higher than others, that's true, but the sun is rising behind every single one of them, just like the hour brought us back a very dear little friend, who has been long absent from our midst on trip to the East—Dickie Brandon. He has grown a bit in body and mind, but what an impudent up-and-coming youngster who won our hearts. Carter Weaver, dramatic instructor, was well represented by two clever pupils, Mary Leone Shipp and Pauline Louis Jones.

At 7:30 p.m. Harold Stwarts of the faculty of the Otis Art Institute gave a short talk on the theme he loves best in the world, sculpture. Needless to say for those to whom his weekly lectures on art are an event, the subject was treated from a penetrating and unique standpoint.

The Associated Press is exclusively entitled to

The Times claims all of these to be accurate as every published statement of fact. Readers who inaccuracy in any statement may call the attention of the Editorial Department to the error.

THE NEEDLES EYE
Wall street may well be described as the Grand Canyon of Manhattan Island, but what is Bright Angel Trail?

SOMETHING SHAPELY
Girls pay a lot of attention to good form, but possibly they get it in a different way from what they used to.

THE WISHBONE
One flock of more than 220,000 turkeys
on a single American ranch would indicate that the country still had something to be thankful for.

THE RULING PASSION
And yet there are some folks who love
jazz so well that they will feel lonely as heaven unless they can be welcomed by a battery of saxophones.

ON THE SQUARE
Spain's newest coin of nickel and silver is square instead of round. If all European countries tried to put their money on the square it would help a lot.

CHANGE OF SCENE
John W. Davis has gone to the Mediterranean country for a bit of rest and relaxation. Possibly he will have better luck
at Monte Carlo than he had in Missouri.

WHAT'S IN A NAME?
Now that barbers are calling themselves chromotomists they feel at liberty to charge a lady $1 for decking her dome.
Who will be the first movie magnate to call
his theater an optium?

IT'S CATCHING
Motoring continues to be the most deadly disease known to the American people.
There were more tragedies from automobile accidents last year than from any ailment known to the doctors.

THE BAD MEN
Officials have listed 313 different crime
rings in Chicago, which would indicate that there was something unlucky about the number thirteen, after all. Possibly by this time the number has swollen to 414.

TOO MUCH GINGER
The Coroner reports that twenty-three persons have already died this year in Cincinnati from drinking Jamaica ginger. It is a far cry from hope to the fiery product
of Jamaica and the Ohioans are not trained
for the race.

COLLEGES AND CRIME
According to recent statements, there are at this time only five college graduates
in Sing Sing—one of the largest prisons in the United States. Possibly the idea is that college boys are bright enough to evade the law and its minions. Anyhow, here is a bit of evidence to show that a good education
helps one to keep out of jail.

THE UNKINDEST CUT
This business of suspending or taking away a speeder's license is a form of judgism that seems to strike to the bone. It is like going to the dentist and having all the teeth pulled at once. It takes away the bite.
If a man is not permitted to drive his car he almost has to behave. The only way he can hurt a pedestrian is to kick
him in the shins.

BEING HARVESTERED
The Washington Post, which is edited
by Col. George Harvey, gives Col. George Harvey full credit for the Coolidge victory.
It seems that the Republican party was in the dunes and sulks until Col. George Harvey took bold and injected some oxygen
into the remains. With a single editorial,
"Coolidge or Chaos," Col. George Harvey snatched victory from defeat and assured
a Republican victory. Col. George Harvey admits it himself.

UP IN THE AIR
Passengers in the aerial gaintes, the Los Angeles, are not bothered with dust,
dirt or smells. That is why Admiral Mott, head of the nation's air service, says
that Zeppelin travel is sure to be popular.
Now that these massive ships are to be extensively built, in this country for commercial use regular flights across the continent
and between great cities will soon be established. Lots of things are going to happen in the air in the next year or two.

OUT OF POLITICS
The Federation of Labor decides almost unanimously to abstain from political activity—that is, as a party. The La Follette entanglement was enough for one generation. By a margin of one vote the executive council of the federation guaranteed the support of organized labor to the La Follette ticket. But when they reached the booths the workers forgot their instructions and voted their personal preferences.
Most of them thought of their jobs and plunked one more for Calvin Coolidge.
Whenever it attempts to break into politics
the Federation of Labor loses a little more
of its prestige, until the average politician
neither fears nor favors it. It is the part of wisdom for the federation to officially announce its abandonment of any national political program. It may have its Congressmen, but it will not seek larger fields.

IGHTS AND DUTIES
Unofficial election returns from the forty-eight States show that, while the total vote cast was the largest in the country's history, only a little more than half
the number of those entitled to exercise
the elective franchise actually went to the polls. About 25,000,000 eligibles were content to submit to taxation without representation.

No one has been able to furnish an adequate explanation why so many Americans
refuse to make use of the most precious
heritage they have received from their fathers, the right of self-government. If the majority that voted were to attempt to deny to the minority that stayed away from the polls the right of suffrage the country
would blase with the fires of revolution.

Plainly something essential is still lacking in American citizenship. Here is a faw that, if not corrected, may lead a generation hence to serious consequences. Too many Americans insist on their rights under the Constitution, but persistently dodge their duties. They pursue a policy of take all and give nothing.

The menace in this condition is found in the fact that those groups and interests
which have a special interest in an election,
have some personal ax to grind, always
turn out in full force; while those who do not expect some office, some special legi-lation or some other emolument play the part of slackers on election day.

This failure on the part of Americans to exercise the elective franchise creates anomalous in most of the countries of Europe.
The people on the other side of the ocean draw the inference that special interests rule the country and that the masses
are, somehow, not permitted to take part in the elections. In Germany, where it is not unusual for a 90-per-cent vote to be cast, the people cannot understand why only about half the people vote in this country.

It is interesting to note that the European press generally attributes the apathy to the failure of the women in this country to go to the polls. The opinion on the other side of the ocean is that most of the men vote
and most of the women stay at home. This is a plausible theory; but it is not corroborated
by the facts. While there are no figures at hand to show which sex is the more guilty of vote slacking, the fact remains that the percentage of votes cast this year
is no lower than when women had not yet
acquired the privilege of suffrage.

It is gratifying to The Times that the percentage of the eligible vote in California
was the highest in ten years, proving that the citizenry of the State is beginning to recognize its duties as well as its rights.
While there are other States that did better, California stands sixth from the top in
the honor roll of the forty-eight States.
This increased interest in the selection of those who will direct the destinies of the State and nation is the explanation of the splendid Coolidge majority; and a further proof that whenever the Constitution is attacked it will not lack defenders.

Apathy on the part of the electorate is the only hope of the radical elements to capture by means of the ballot representative governments. Confiscation and pillage
are the goals of every, radical movement;
and this confiscation can never take place
so long as the citizens of the country are on guard. The percentage of the eligible vote cast was higher than in 1920; and in this fact a gleam of hope is to be found that the electorate of the nation is becoming more interested in the management of the country's affairs and that an increasing number are willing to perform the duties
which they, morally at least, assume when they receive the right of suffrage.

THE BAD MEN
Officials have listed 313 different crime
rings in Chicago, which would indicate that
there was something unlucky about the number thirteen, after all. Possibly by this time the number has swollen to 414.

DEAN SWIFT MINUS

A Mental decay, like the cloak of charity,
covers the collapse of Percy Stickney Grant
and softens the blow to his friends that the revelations of his private life have inflicted on the record of his public career. The tempestuous rector of the Church of the Ascension did not have to plead an unbalanced mind when he attacked the cardinal principles of the church in which he was an ordained minister. But that church will willingly admit the plea of insanity to mitigate criticism on his unusual domestic relations.

Had not the irregularities of his loudly
proclaimed rebellion against the tenets of his church advertised his ministry's private irregularities would have attracted small public notice. But the man who famously flaunts the banner of revolt against the institution he has sworn to serve—
whether through political or religious ties—
has stepped by that act into the pitfall
of轻视.

Reviewing the career of Rev. Percy Stickney Grant, one is impressed by its similarity
to the career of Jonathan Swift, the iconoclast
of the eighteenth century.

Both of these men were ordained ministers of the Episcopal Church, though in this respect Grant was more favored than the great dean; for the American rector
was appointed to a fashionable diocese in New York City and the Irish parson to a petty vicarage at Kilroot, Antrim. Swift set himself with satire and invective to blow up the social conventions of his era;
Grant with noise and fury to smash the rock on which his church was founded.

Dean Swift had his "Stella" and his Venessa, his good and bad angels; the New York rector had his Rita Lydig, the lady of sorrows, and his Nellie Kelly as a type of Swift's Vanessa. And Dean Swift broke the heart of Stella. In later years Swift's brain became diseased in very much the same way that disease has fastened on the mind of Percy Stickney Grant. Through their physical being the parallel holds strongly.

But when this is said, all is said. Intellectually the New York innovator has no place with the author of "Gulliver's Travels." He was a Dean Swift minus—with a magnificent emphasis on the "minus."

VERSEA INVESTMENTS
Americans have this year invested
nearly $1,500,000,000 in loans to other lands.
Our investments circle the earth and we are perhaps the greatest creditor nation of all time—counting our war loans with the rest. Yet it may be said that we have but started. Next year we will be making still heavier investments overseas. We seem to have a purse for every loan. Even the people that dislike us are not too proud to take our money.

THE NEW NAVY
Young men of character and with good references are now being admitted to the Navy. Uncle Sam is no longer providing a reformatory for wild youth. The Navy is now supplying a liberal education and it is not for wastrels and black sheep.

FOR A TRAFFIC DEPARTMENT

The request of Chief of Police Heath
for the facilities in men and money to create
a separate police division or subdepartment which shall handle traffic exclusively is in line with modern methods of policing a metropolis, as contemplated by our new charter. It was advocated by Chief Vollmer during his tenure of office and has been indorsed by students of police and traffic problems everywhere, including our own Traffic Commission. Moreover, it is obvious horse sense.

The old system—the one under which Los Angeles now suffers—whereby a policeman
is a chaser of criminals part of the time and a director of traffic the rest, is a relic of village days. There is about the same relationship between the two jobs as between day
and night. They require two entirely different sets of qualities—sets hard to pack
inside one uniform, for most of the characteristics that make an efficient nemesis for crooks are a handicap to a traffic officer.

Under present conditions the Los Angeles
police department is like Mark Twain's steamboat, which stopped every time the engineer took a couple of pounds of steam to blow the whistle. When the policemen go on traffic duty there is nobody left to walk the beats and when the beats are protected there is nobody to take care of traffic. It is a fact that at the peaks of traffic Los Angeles is practically without patrolmen in its streets, except those which are acting as traffic semaphores at street intersections.

The business of being a traffic officer is not as simple as it looks. Good traffic officers are scarce—as many know to their cost who have been up against the other kind. It requires specialized training of a kind not available in the ordinary police school.

The traffic situation in Los Angeles' biggest single problem right now. It will not be solved by more traffic officers, nor even
by a separate traffic department, but such a move as suggested will go a long way toward relieving a situation that is already
at the intolerable point.

PARTY RESPONSIBILITY

The Birmingham News takes a very sensible Democratic view of the result of the election when it asserts that it is much better for the Democratic party that President Coolidge is fully supported by a Republican Congress. The News argues that there is far more hope for Democratic victory four years hence than if that party
had power to heckle and bedevil the President through his term of office. The Times
fully agrees, as every great constructive
achievement in America has thus been accomplished.

The people are cheerfully willing to continue to trust the wisdom of a Republican President and a Republican Congress for another generation. The Republican party shirks no responsibility, nor does its President. Could there be a better guarantee than this that the voters of the nation will immediately preceding the election, when fishish interests and political expediency
might have dictated a different course?

As to the hopes for a Democratic victory
four years hence The Times leaves that to the judgment of the loyal citizenry when the time for action comes. It has no misgivings today.

FACING SOUTH

An Iowa professor decides that a room facing south will garner forty-five times as much sunshine as one opening north. Those who take zest in sunshine may govern their lives and their building operations accordingly. When Diogenes had a southern ex-posure to his tub he got about all the sunshine there was because he had no glazing or screening in his wooden nest. It is the unfiltered sunlight that counts. If it has to be sifted through glass it loses much of its vitality.

THE WORLD'S WINDOW

William's Wavering

Theodore Wolff, editor of the Berliner Tagblatt, has written a book in which he comes out with the astonishing declaration that Kaiser Wilhelm, orthodox Christian
and head of the Evangelical Lutheran Church, contemplated suicide when Von Buelow, his Chancellor, disapproved of his "Dear Cousin Nicky" of Russia. Von Buelow finally withdrew the threat of his resignation, but Herr Wolff declares his reward came three years later, when the Kaiser dismissed him with the remark: "I have chased the scoundrel away." Yet there exists a eulogy of later days, pronounced by the Kaiser upon Von Buelow's return to Berlin in 1916. He had been Ambassador in Rome, where he was extremely popular and did a great deal to bring Italy from breaking away entirely from the Triple Alliance by joining the Allies.
Von Buelow then appeared as the Kaiser's
favorite, the more of his able defense
of Germany's war aims and his analysis
of the diplomatic maneuvers that ended in the complete encirclement of the Germanic allies.
It was in this defense that occurred the famous phrase of Germany's right to a place in the sun.

White Home Burns

Two Russian grand dukes are quarreling
with savage intensity over their rights of access to the throne of the Romanoffs.
They are Cyril Romanoff, cousin of Nicolas
II, and Nikolai Nicolaievitch, uncle of the Czar. Cyril Romanoff, of the Russian army on the Carpathian frontier. Cyril has recently issued a manifesto as pretender to the throne and his claims from Paris stating that if it is proven beyond a doubt that the Czar and his son are really dead "it is up to the Russian people to decide who shall be the successor of Nicolas II."

The mother of the Czar still refuses to believe that her son and his wife are dead.
It is doubtful whether the Russian people
will have the courage to make this decision
in the near future.

The women of today are no worse
than the men of yesterday—they never made a silly blunder in any age.

Some married men would rather
spend a lot of time thinking up excuses
than lead irreproachable lives.

They are "washing" the drinking water in Danville, Va.; but that is a lot better than drinking washing

The sad thing about having a wife is when you look for something it has been hung up somewhere.

The Hollywood Bowl is about the right size for a reunion of the girls
who have been engaged to Charlie Chaplin.

The designation of Gore as Secretary of Agriculture may be mentioned as first blood for the administration.

"Burbank student loses two fingers." There used to be something suggestive in that "two-fingers" expression.

A little more mental and physical hygiene and a little less vocabulary snarl might heal a few lapses of culture.

Another difference between lovers and husbands is that the former draw in at the waist and the latter at the waste line.

Union-labor dynamiters and gunmen have begun operations in San Francisco. Fortunately they are not far from San Quentin.

It is quite clear that a lot of seedy maniacs are still driving on the new "insanity gas," which has just been banned in New York.

GEORGE C. HARRINGTON
Keep on the Job

The first Sunday to be held in Los Angeles of the year will be the first Sunday to be held in Los Angeles of the year. All the citizens of the city (except a few who do not drive their machines) are pleased for the pleasure of the great majority who always run their cars on Sunday.

It seems that the drivers are helped to develop in the course of the day the spirit of co-operation and unity, eliminating all possible accidents.

Let us believe that, as it is now, this is not a sporadic event, instead that safe driving should be a strict, universal law to be enforced continuously.

The heads of commercial and industrial concerns should not regard the drivers of their trucks as little better than their slaves; the business men should try to make up time with on-the-road employees, so as not to calculate in arriving to reach their place of work in the morning or their home at night, but take all the time required to cover distance, till all the needed caution.

The veteran driver should rely upon his wonderful experience and the superpower of his car to make an hour trip in thirty minutes, overtaking any car on the road and endangering lives of others.

The young fellow enjoying a ride with young ladies company should feel that the girls will be his because he is a skilled driver.

I think it is a general wish of the City Council should know the police department to be up the campaign. It should be a permanent duty for the traffic officers to make this city safe for citizens and not to have the streets blacken the white spot with a detectable record of auto accidents and loss of lives.

"Forget Thyself"

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 24.—The Editor of The Times: Please permit me to voice an opinion on the remarkably interesting article by Dr. Elias F. Mervin on the motion picture, "The Great Heart," which appeared in your editorial column November 21.

It is unnecessary to point out how convincingly the doctor made the call to dealers by supporting his belief in the teaching, "Forget Thyself," though that is particularly significant, coming from a man of science. It is equally unnecessary to come to the point where was the most amazing in that who read it and knew Dr. Mervin's views was unfamiliar with his ideas.

Success cannot be won without the "team work" of capital to help us. Yet we go about the vitally important work of saving money in a haphazard, hit-or-miss way, without a plan or definite aim. We put in today—take out tomorrow—rest a while—go backwards for a time—and get nowhere.

The game of life is much more difficult and important than football, yet many of us go through life, hoping to win, somehow and somewhere, by "a race down the field." We make no definite plans—have no definite aim.

There are several ways in which money may be systematically saved, but in more than two generations of banking, the best way we have found is the successful and success-making "Buy $1000.00 cash on easy payments" plan.

SOCIETY

BY JUANA NEAL LEVY

One of the weddings of much interest in the society was that of the 15th inst., when Miss Marion Bassett of Tucson, Ariz., plighted her troth to Ralph F. Bagley, son of Mrs. Alice T. Bagley of 1645 Golden Gate avenue. The secret service agents of Fresno, in the Church of Our Lady of Victory, witnessed the nuptial mass being read by Rev. Martin C. Keating. It was also a double wedding, the brother of Miss Bassett, A. Gordon Bassett, who married to M. M. Kastner, C. C. Gandy, on the same day.

After a brief wedding trip Mr. and Mrs. Bagley returned to Los Angeles and are at home to their friends at 1445½ Golden Gate avenue. The bride is the daughter of William L. Bassett, engineer in charge of the new line of the Southern Pacific running through Phoenix. Mr. Bagley, who is one of the promising young attorneys of Los Angeles, while completing his studies at the University of Southern California, conducted a tour through the Orient, composed of young university students. He also was graduated from the law college of Georgetown University, Washington, D. C., and received his diploma from the hands of President Coolidge, the old tradition of this college dating back to its founding, being that the President of the United States should personally present the diplomas and it has been so carried out with the exception of President Woodrow Wilson. Many charmingly arranged affairs are being given in honor of Mrs. Bagley, who made a host of friends here during her recent visits with Mrs. Alex Bagley.

In the South
Mr. and Mrs. Erwin P. Werner left Wednesday for a motor trip to San Diego, where they were honored guests yesterday by the living widow of Col. Milton McRae. They will return Monday.

They were accompanied by Raphael Herman of Washington, D. C., who is making his home at the Ambassador.

For Bride
One of the delightful affairs of the day will be the reception and tea with which Mrs. Lemuel Goldwater of 1109 South Hoover street is entertaining in compliment of the bride's daughter-in-law, Mrs. Jerryd Lemuel Goldwater, a bride of the fall.

The marriage of Miss Helen Lauer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Emanuel H. Lauer, formerly of Shatto Place, to Jerryd Lemuel Goldwater, who was one of the brilliant guests of last month, taking place in the Plaza Hotel, New York City.

After an extended wedding trip Mr. and Mrs. Goldwater are at home temporarily at the new Caroline Apartments in South Hoover street.

The hours of the tea this afternoon will be from 3 to 6 o'clock.

Unusual Occasion
The setting of one of the beautifully appointed weddings of the season tomorrow evening, when Miss Marjorie Ultman, attractive young daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles S. Ultman of Van Ness avenue, becomes the bride of S. Maurice Hellman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Maurice S. Hellman of Harvard Boulevard. Mr. and Mrs. Hellman who have been in New York and the East, returned home several days ago in time for the ceremony. Mrs. Leonard J. Meyberg (Lorraine Hellman) of 1210 Adams street, a friend of the bride, will be the matron of honor at the ceremony, while Miss Alice Jane Ultman will assist her bridesmaids will include Miss Katherine Newmark, Miss Helen Wiesenbach of Chicago, Little League Frank, niece of Mr. Hellman, by the dairy farmer girl, Martin J. Diskelis of San Francisco, wife of the fall.

Mrs. Hellman will be the maid of honor and the ushers serving Mr. Hellman will include Irvin Harris, Eugene J. Stern, Leonard J. Meyberg and Eugene Morris. The officiant at the ceremony, assisted by Rev. Sigmond Hecht, following the ceremony

there will be a dinner-dance.

Wedding Date

Invitations have been received for the wedding of Miss Thelma Irene Chrysler, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Percy Chrysler, to Byron Cecil Foy of Los Angeles, the ceremony to take place at the home of the bride's parents, Point Great Neck, Long Island, New York, Wednesday evening, December 2, at 8 o'clock. Immediately following the ceremony there will be a reception and wedding supper. Mr. Foy left several days ago for the East and after an extended wedding trip will bring his bride to the Coast, making their home in Los Angeles.

Betrothal Announcement

Formal announcement is made by Samuel J. Kees of Shatto Place of the engagement of his attractive young daughter, Miss Annette Kees to George O. Carrabine, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Carrabine of 1210 West Adams street. The news was told at a beautifully appointed dinner party given at the Carrabine home when twenty-four guests were bidden. Miss Annette was graduated from Los Angeles High School and is one of the most popular members of the younger set, while young Carrabine was graduated from Polytechnic High School. No date has been set for the wedding.

COURT WILL RULE TODAY ON JOHN DOE

Unnamed Litigant Said to Have "Butted" in on Suit Over Beverly Hills Lots

The right of that widely known and justly celebrated litigant, John Doe, to come into court before he has been duly and formally summoned thereto, will be passed upon by the Superior Court today. As Attorney General of the state, it is John Doe's duty to sit quietly at home, and not to come prowling around court rooms with answers and cross-complaints until he is asked to. This view is in full opposition to the claim of the unnamed plaintiff to the suit of Louis Dexter vs. R. A. Jackson, et al., over title to thirty lots in Beverly Hills, Barrett being counsel for the plaintiff.

As defendant, with a claim who claims ownership of the property, is named John Doe in the capacity of claimant to another part of it. Came recently Frank Fruber, asserting and setting forth that he is in truth John Doe and that he has a valid title to the allegations of Dexter.

"Presumptuous," exclaimed Barrett, when apprised of this action. Promptly he wrote a motion to strike off the document on the ground that it was a bold piece of impudence on the part of defendant.

"We don't know anything about this Fruber party," ran his protest effect. "Maybe that is one of the names Doe is using now, or under, and maybe it isn't. But we do know that John Doe has never been summoned to court in this action, and we consider it impudent for him to be trying to speak before he has spoken to us."

Arguing that the motion to strike out will be heard by Judge Crump today.

ACHING ARCHES AND INSISTERS

M. H. writes that she has been having pains in her feet.

They do not seem to be flat at the arch. She has been wearing an arch support for some months.

As a means of finding out whether the arch is fallen to step in water and then step on the bare floor. If the arch is normal, only the outer edge of the foot and the ball and heel will register. There will be a big impression on the inner side where the foot does not touch the floor.

There are different degrees of fallen arches, and it may be possible that yours, M. H., have fallen

STORE WILL ENTERTAIN BOYS TODAY

Circus and Other Features
on Program to be Given from Ten to Three

BY OLIVE GRAY

Desmond's will entertain their boy friends and friends of their boy friends today from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m., in that greater boys' shop,
which is one of the distinctive features of that distinctive store.

There will be a real circus tent;
animals will perform; there will be mirth-provoking stunts of many kinds, and much more.

Of course, Santa Claus will be on hand and there will be Little Boy Blue in person—but we must not tell all that we have heard from rumor about this fascinating shop. We will roll the program of all its thrills and its surprising elements.

Boys who know Desmond's boys'
shop can readily anticipate that a greatly increased number of the child to be adopted and the parents will be present.

If the child is over 12 years of age,
then the parents must consent.

It is found that the great majority of persons wanting to adopt
children are woefully ignorant
of the legal procedure.

The essential thing, according to Judge Archbold, is that the parents of the children to be adopted appear with the adopting parents before the Judge of the Juvenile Court, to whom must be given consent in writing of the adoptive parents.

SUIT OVER FILM IN COURT TODAY

Goldwyn Company Requests Damages on Contract

Declares Warner Brothers Violated Agreement

Lending of Director Hopper Basis of Contest

Revealing the asserted differences between S. L. and J. L. Warner of Warner Brothers and E. Mason Hopper, motion-picture director, over the film production, "The Little Church Around the Corner," several deposition and an answer and cross-complaint have been filed in Superior Court in connection with the suit for $750 damages for asserted breach of contract brought by the Goldwyn Company against the Warner Brothers.

The litigation was started by the Goldwyn Producing Company more than a year ago, and the case is now three-covered and under seal from the accused. Hopper lent his services to Warner Brothers to direct two pictures to be produced by the defendants.

CONTRACT IN 1922

According to the complaint, the plaintiff corporation entered a contract with the defendants September 11, 1922, agreeing to lend its services to Warner Brothers for not less than twelve weeks. Warner Brothers to pay the plaintiff $1500 a week for the time Hopper was employed in directing pictures for them.

Hopper was said to have started work on the first production, but the defendants were said later to have refused to allow him to continue in his work. The Goldwyn Producing Company asked $750 as the amount asserted to be due it under the terms of the asserted contract.

In their answer and cross-complaint, Warner Brothers denied they refused to permit Hopper to continue with the picture and asserted on the other hand, that Hopper refused and failed to perform his duties in a proper manner by reason of which they accepted him as not fit to be terminated and informed the plaintiff that the contract of employment was rescinded.

Warner Brothers asked the recovery of $2600, which they claimed he had paid the plaintiff for services which Hopper was said never to have delivered.

CLASH OVER HOPPER

According to depositions on file in the case, there apparently was some difficulty between Hopper and Warner Brothers over the selection of an actor to play the leading role in the picture, "The Little Church Around the Corner." Mr. Hopper testified he was ready to proceed with filming the picture with any leading man the defendants might care to select.

Two weeks ago according to Hopper, on the day when the first scenes were to be shot, Hopper reported ready for work and found another director on the lot.

Hopper said he was then informed that he was no longer required and he and his assistants left the studio. With the filing of the answer and cross-complaint, the case is now in a position to be set for trial.

GOOD RUBBER LANDS IN PHILIPPINES

As the United States consumes about 75 per cent of the world's supply of crude rubber, every citizen of the country is affected by the price of crude rubber. The British rubber lands in the Federated Malay States and the Dutch rubber lands in Sumatra control 75 per cent of the crude rubber output of the entire Far East whence comes the bulk of the world's rubber. So these markets have the United States at their mercy. Through development of the crude rubber industry in the Philippines, it would be possible for the United States to gain freedom from the present foreign monopoly of this essential commodity. Between $100,000,000 and $150,000,000 it would cost to develop the American people in excess prices imposed by the British government's artificial restriction of rubber exports.

It requires from six to eight years to grow a tree to yield sap in commercial quantities so it will be seen that a quick expansion of the world's rubber area is imperative. The annual output to meet the world demand is about 400,000 tons of the raw product. The Philippine Islands offer a natural field for the desired expansion. Our government experts say that Congressmen report that the island of Mindanao alone contains vast stretches of soil as good or better for rubber growing as those in the lands now controlled by the Japanese. In fact, large areas of the public domain in the Philippines could be used to meet all our crude rubber requirements for generations. Thus, the United States would be independent of foreign domination of this important raw material. However, American interests cannot develop them because of a Philippine law restricting holdings by corporations to 20 acres. This is wholly inadequate for the culture of rubber on a commercial scale. Because of lack of capital and inexperience, the Filipinos find it impossible to develop the rubber industry in the islands. The initiative comes from American sources.

The Father of the Bicycle

The direct progenitor of the modern bicycle is supposed to be one made in 1816 by Baron Karl von Drais and used in performing the duties as chief forester to the Duke of Baden. This machine, which was called the "draisine," and which consisted of two wheels of equal size connected by a perch on which the rider sat. It was guided with a bar attached to the front wheel and was propelled by the rider striking his feet against the ground.

A monument has been erected in memory of the "Father of the Bicycle" over Drais' grave at Karlsruhe, in Baden.

Very Slow

"Do you drink coffee?" asked the doctor of an aged patient.

"Yes," was the reply.

"Coffee," continued the doctor, "is a slow poison."

"Yes, very slow," replied the old man. "I have taken it daily for nearly eighty years."—[Missing pages.]
